Owning my own business has had many benefits as well as disadvantages. Staying focused on the positives, one of the biggest benefits has been the people I have had the pleasure of meeting since our inception. At the risk of divulging my age, we now have second-generation customers! Many customers have become family, not only to me, but to my team members as well.

In my cleaning business, on the general housekeeping side, we have the pleasure of going into our customers' homes and making life for them easier, less hectic and stressful, and just plain enjoyable!

The other element of the business, Bio Recovery, is a much different experience. I meet the customers usually at their most traumatic, difficult times of their life. Whether it be a death of a family member, an accident, a hoard, or any other life-altering event, I, along with my technicians, introduce the opportunity of complete abatement of the affected environment and introduce a new normal. Throughout our process, we develop a very real and strong bond with the families, often being referred as their "angels on earth."

This journey has been the most physically, emotionally and financially challenging experience - yet the best I could have ever wished for in my professional career.

To all of my past, current, and future customers, I would like to sincerely thank you for affecting my life in such a wonderful unexpected manner! I appreciate not only your business, but also allowing us to come into your home and lives, and make a difference.
